

Aleksandar Dzakula

Research Fellow

Andrija Stampar School of Public Health, Zagreb, Croatia

Work in the field of Health Care Services analysis, research and development in Croatia and internationally. Active role as expert for organizational changes in health care reform processes in Croatia (2008-09 – Ministry of health and social welfare) and health care administration capability building on local and national level (2003-08 - Counties, Agencies) enables him to implement best health care and public administration practices in the specific setting and challenges in health care system. He was working on various projects with international cooperation as expert and coordinator (Sustainable management development program CDC, Atlanta, US; Management and quality in health care, ENSP, Rennes, France; Health care policy analysis LGI, Budapest, Hungary; Capacity building of health care system - Bosnia and Herzegovina). Through the previous projects "Decentralization in public services", "Hospital system analysis", "Healthy counties" "Capacity building for quality in health care" he obtained comprehensive overview on the current and past legislation and organizational changes.