

Dušan Kidrič

Dušan Kidrič, an economist, is currently Adviser for the supplementary pension and health insurance at Insurance Supervision Agency of Slovenia and a member of the EU (Economic Policy Committee) working group on Ageing Population (as observer until May 1st 2004, than as a full member). His responsibilities include regulation of complimentary insurance in the field of pension and health.

Previous he was working at Institute of Macroeconomic Analysis and Development and he participated in several conferences and seminars on pension issues. His research areas and his key qualifications are social analysis and development, public financing, social and voluntary pension insurance, and social security.

He has BA in economics from the Faculty of Economics, University of Ljubljana.