

Mária Augusztinovics

Mária Augusztinovics is an economist, Doctor of Economic Sciences, consulting member of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences and honorary professor at Corvinus (formerly Budapest) University of Economics.

Research and teaching areas are theory of money and macroeconomic planning models until 1984, since then macroeconomics of the human life-course, including pension economics.

She is participant of several professional associations and bodies, e.g. Econometric Society fellow since 1976, UN Committee for Development Planning (Policy) vice chairman 1978-84, member 1995-2000, European Society for Population Economics Council member 1996-1998, International Economic Association Executive Committee member 1999-2005, Hungarian Economic Association vice chairman 1995-1998, Council member 1998-2005.