The workshop familiarized participants with a broad range of central banking issues, set in the specific perspective of the EU convergence process. Different challenges of central banks were discussed through a set of presentations and case studies as well as group exercises. The key central banking issues were discussed together with case-study work to embed learning in an operational context and to foster the exchange of experience within the group.

Benefits to the participants:
Experts coming from different central banks with different backgrounds shared the experience among each other and the participants.
