Powerful Presentations
November 18–20, 2013
Workshop Report

November 20, 2013
For all of us there is a need to communicate well. Getting your message across and having your ideas accepted is not just about providing a presentation that has impact. You need to be self confident to improve your success rate.

The workshop was highly interactive within a small grouping so that the participants gained maximum benefit and support.

Topics covered

- Tools to develop the confident and effective use of your vocals.
- Ways of improving your presence and creating the right impression.
- Building a strong platform through preparation.
- Techniques for dealing with difficult questions.
- An insight as to how Neuro Linguistic Programming can assist.
- Confidence building and using that to present with impact.

Lecturer:

- Kevin McGlone, BSc (Econ) CPA

Participants:

There were 12 participants from Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Kosovo, Slovenia and Turkey.

Selected Participants’ Comments:

- Lecturer was very capable, devoted and skilled - prepared to share and pass knowledge! Good sense of humour.
- I plan using the knowledge gained here by applying presentation techniques in teaching or future career.
- The environment, the participants, especially the coordinator and the lecturer make one feel more confident and comfortable.
- At the CEF there was very nice arrangement of the space, good music, and overall perfect atmosphere. “Warm environment in cold autumn.”
